FALL PENTITIES.

St. Louis Extends a Cordial Welcome to All. The city of St. Louis has become famous the country over through the agency of ber annual Fall Festivities, and from that source has gained the sobriquet of the "Carnival City of America." For the season of 1892 all previous efforts in the line of entertainment will be eclipsed. The great St. Louis Exposition will throw its doors open to the public Wednesday, Sept. 7, and will continue to entersain and delight thousands during a period extending over forty days. One of the chief attractions announced by the management is the engagement of Colonel P. S. Gilmore and his world-renowned band, one hundred strong. The illuminagrander scale than any similar exhibition ever attempted in the world. The thirty-ever attempted in the world. The thirty-second great St. Louis Fair and Zoological Gardens, Oct. 3 to 8, whose fame has been heralded broadcast, will be one of the main attractions of that week, and, as has been customary for the last thirteen years the Veiled Prophet will again appear in his favorite city, on the evening of Tuesday, October 4. The hotel accommodations of St. Louis have been materially increased since last year and strangers are assured of hospitable treatment.

The Missouri Pacific railway with its vast net-work of lines extending over the states of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Indian Territory, Arkansas, the west, south and southwest, in order to en-courage travel, have made a remarkably low round trip rate from points on their lines to St. Louis and return during the For futher information relative to dates

SMOOTH MRS. PECK.

The Cleverest Confidence Woman in the United States.

Her Victims Number Bundreds and Can Be Found in All Parts of the Country-Story of the Noted Babbitt Case.

Mrs. Ellen Peck, who was arrested in Boston a few days ago for attempting to secure a valuable house without paying for it, is, according to the New correspondent of the Chicago Post, the most notorious female criminal that America ever knew. Although her peculiar talents have gained for her the simple and ambiguous title of "confidence queen," she is preeminently the most distinguished rogue with whom the police of a dozen cities have ever had to deal. She possesses the genius of versatility to an almost superhuman degree in the swindling line and no criminal, male or female, is so feared and respected as she is. She ranges all over the field of dishonesty, from committing petty crimes to high class real estate swindling, and although repeatedly arrested for hundreds of crooked transactions she has so far managed to escape punishment, except in one instance, and then she served only a very light sentence.

It is estimated by the police that Mrs. Peck, or Knight, as she is sometimes known, has made something like $1,-000,000 by her schemes. She is a trim little, brown-haired woman, meek and innocent appearing as a nun, but she has a very active brain and a gift of speech that can persuade an icono-clast. She lives in Brooklyn when she is at home, is about fifty years of age and, her neighbors say, is a model housewife. She also has a husband who at times helps her to work a scheme; but all the credit, if there be any attached to her exploits, belongs solely to her. Superintendent Byrnes, of the New York police, says she is the most skillful female detective he ever knew, and on several occasions she has rendered valuable aid to the professional thief-takers, notably in trapping a counterfeiter whose arrest the police particularly desired. She could earn a big salary by turning honest and con fining her talent to detective work.

As far as known Ellen Peck has but one weakness. This is for the dazzling light of the diamond's flash, and this passion is what has brought her into the meshes of the law's net. She ao quires diamonds as she does real estate -without paying for them. Early in her career, which now extends over seven [From Rogue's Gallery.] teen years of time and the whole United States as a field, she swindled a Broadway jeweler out of a $400 pair of stones. She pawned them with the famous Simpson and attempted to make the latter give them back on the plea that they had been stolen from her. She even produced a man who confessed to having robbed her of them, plane slong side of one of the oldest and them up she brought suit to recover. best known high grade instruments I can fully recommend it as meeting every requirement of a strictly first class plane.

A. W. SICKNER.

Then the man from whom she had stolen them turned up and had her arrested. She escaped through some technicality of the law. This is but one in nicality of the law. This is but one in stance of her boldness, but it is typical of her methods. "Smart people" are her particular mark, and it is on record that she has swindled some of the shrewdest men in the country. Half a dozen famous New York lawyers, including Bissell, at one time ex-President Cleveland's partner. are among them. She got $360 out of the latter on a fraudulent mortgage. Mortgaging Georgia sand hills and Arizona deserts for sums far in advance of their actual value are accomplishments that vie with the achieve ments of Puget Sound real estate dealers in selling lots located in twenty fathems of water, yet Mrs. Peck has done this time and time again. A year or two ago she mortgaged her house hold furniture to twelve different money lenders and then proved that it belonged to somebody els Her most famous exploit was in swindling P. T. Babbitt, the millionaire soap manufacturer, out of $20,000 by pretending to be able to recover $300,-000 which one of his employes had stolen. So skillfully did she manage the affair that Babbitt did not believe he had been duped even after she had been exposed. When he did awake to the real situation he attempted to recover his money, but was not only defeated by a blackmailing scheme, but forced to give up more money. In this she was assisted by her husband, and the charges made by them against the soap man furnished a sensation. Rather than fight to disprove them Babbitt dropped the matter, but it is said that he never after that permitted a woman to enter his office unattended. One of the features of the case was a suit for $100,000 brought by Mrs. Peck's husband against Babbitt for trying to lead a daughter astray. Of course there was no truth in the charge and it was never

Mrs. Peck's schievement which got her into trouble in Boston was in buying a $30,000 house with a note and mortgaging it to two or three persons. Some well-known Boston men are said to be mixed up in the affair and it is not improbable that she will go scot
